TOP FIVE REASONS TO BECOME A BEHAVIORAL HEALTH NURSE AT ACCENT CARE

1

Patient Acuity

You will perform intermittent visits primarily for geriatric patients with late life depression and dementia providing medication management, medication teaching, disease management, counseling and psychotherapy.

2

Work-Life Balance

Our behavioral health nursing professionals are able to fit their work schedule around their personal one. Our flexible scheduling allows them to create a positive work/life balance.

3

Provide Skilled Care

Home Health Behavioral Health Nurses impact the lives of homebound patients who have become depressed, less active and subject to other health concerns due to social isolation. Our Behavioral Health Nurses spend the quality time their patients need to receive quality psychiatric treatment.

4

Help Patients Remain at Home*

Families are often faced with the daunting task of transitioning their loved one from one environment to another or from one treatment to the next. As a Behavioral Health Nurse you can help both the family and your patient cope with those life-changing transitions. Home health care providers care for their patients in the comfort and safety of their own homes, close to their family and friends.

5

Ability to Work at the Top of Your Licensure

As a Home Health Behavioral Health Nurse, you will work one-on-one with your patients to provide them customized psychiatric care. Under the guidance of a physician, you will develop plans of care and utilize nursing theories, skills and techniques to provide quality care to your patients on an intermittent basis.

*Our patients live in a traditional home, an assisted living facility, senior care home, etc.
